Year 6 entered a WW1 poetry competition, hosted by Outwell Parish Council. During a special assembly of remembrance, Yellow Class shared their poems and remembered Outwell's fallen heroes. Well done to Preston who was chosen as the winning entry. He will be reading his poem at Outwell's remembrance service at 2.30pm on Sunday. He will receive £25 as his prize and a further £25 to be donated to charity which he has decided will be Cancer Research. Preston's poem is attached at the end of the newsletter.

Remembrance 100 Year Celebration Day

On Wednesday, Beaupre remembered those who both fought in and lost their lives during World War One to commemorate 100 years since its end. All classes had the opportunity to learn about different aspects of WW1 and some great pieces of work were created. A special thanks to Yellow Class for their moving assembly dedicated to thanking the WW1 heroes of Outwell.

Poetry Competition

Winning Entry by Preston Harrison

WWI remember

Death, death, death the pointless, Great War when is it over?
 My blood boiling with anger my clothes like I've swam in a sea of blood I strangers come from here to zero paralysed in the dirty, damp sludge horrible, degrading, isolated lonely trenches the war is consuming me. In the morning beam in the morning dawn when will it

 But in the night, silent so silent what happened to my legs

Today we remember the subwell soldiers who died
 The proud, peaceful poppy dances nearby a few frozen moments to say goodbye
