

3. All of these RSE topics are statutory, so the government requires us to teach them. In which year group do you think we should introduce these topics?

Write Year 1 or Year 5 etc as you see fit.

Understanding about families and their responsibilities for children.

Naming parts of the body using scientific vocabulary.

Building confidence to keep safe and ask for help.

Preparing for puberty.

4. This area is not statutory, but the Department for Education recommends that primary schools include it.

Write Year 1 or Year 5 etc as you see fit. If you would prefer that your child did not learn about this at school, put a cross.

How a baby is made and develops.

5. From September 2026, all schools are required to share example teaching resources with parents/carers. What would you most like us to share with you? Please tick the appropriate box.

1 Not important, 2 Important, 3 Very important, 4 Not sure

1

2

3

Not Sure

Not important

V. Important

?

The focus/objectives of each lesson.

The picture books/videos we will read/watch.

Interactive activities the children will take part in.

Activities the children will do on their own.

Content about puberty.

Content about sexual reproduction.

Content about different families.

Content about hygiene.

Content about keeping safe.

6. We'd like to know more about how would you like to be given further information about these topics and ways to support your child at home? (Please tick any that apply)

Already accessed this

Would like this in the future

A presentation in school.

Informal after school 'drop in'.

Information about coverage through termly topic summaries.

A leaflet.

A list of recommended web resources.

Other (Please state).

7. Are there other areas which you feel your child(ren) should learn about at school?